

Technology Access Foundation Privacy Policy

The Technology Access Foundation (TAF) has as its number one concern, the privacy of each of our web site visitors, and the data and information provided by each visitor to maintain our site. This Privacy Statement is provided for the purpose of explaining how that information that you provide is used.

When you visit the TAF website you may voluntarily supply certain personally identifiable information in connection with an online donations, newsletter registration, event registration, e-commerce transactions, etc.

TAF invites anonymous browsing to its web site. However, the visitor should be aware that each time they visit our web site, we record your IP address, pages you visited and the date and time of your visit. The visitor should be aware that although we do not collect email addresses, they may choose to provide their email address by participating in our online donations, newsletter registration, event registration, or to purchase items.

TAF uses this information to evaluate internet traffic patterns, which will aid us in improving our web site in the future. Additionally we may utilize the information obtained for the purposes of diagnosing problems with our server.

TAF further states that as an additional means of protecting the privacy of the visitors to our web site, we will not sell, exchange or transfer any email address, mailing addresses, or any other personal information to any outside third party entities.

When you engage in money-related transactions on the TAF site, you will be asked for a credit card number as one of your payment options. All financial transactions take place on secure servers. Your credit card information is saved on secure internal systems that are either not connected to the internet or are protected by the utmost advanced firewalls. These are separate from the computers that serve the TAF public sites. This private information is not made available to any third party and is considered completely confidential.

The TAF web site may contain links to other web sites. Visitors should be aware that any links stated in this web site are likely to be owned by other companies, to which we will have no control over their privacy policies. As such, a visitor should review the privacy statements of the links provided to insure they agree with their policies. Furthermore, although we offer links to other web sites, we are not responsible for their content, operation, links or transmissions.

Occasionally TAF may need to change this policy. Any changes will be posted to this page as soon as reasonably possible, so please check this page periodically. By using this site, you signify your agreement to the terms and conditions of this Technology Access Foundation web site's privacy policy.