

Janet Blanford

Joined 2008

Janet Blanford is an educator who has worked in Seattle Public Schools for 17 years and cares deeply about creating an education system that truly supports the academic and social growth of all students. During her time with Seattle Public Schools, she has been a Biology and Mathematics, Engineering, Science Achievement (MESA) teacher, school reformer and currently oversees a system-wide high school student support program.

Janet is a Washington State native with an undergraduate degree from the University of Washington and a Masters from Seattle University. She is a graduate of Leadership Tomorrow and serves on the Board of Directors of Strategic Education Centers. She lives in Seattle with her husband and daughter and loves to cook, entertain and travel.

Preparing underserved children of color for higher education and professional success by providing a rigorous and relevant K-12 education.